From Tuesday March 3. to Saturday March 7. 1723.

Lisbon, February 26, N. S.

ON the 23d Instant his Portuguese Majesty, accompanied by the Lords in waiting, went to Mafra to see what Progress had been made in the Cathedral which is building there. M. Merveilleux, a Swiss by Birth, is going to make a Tour through this Kingdom, by Order of his said Majesty, to give a Description of the Plants and other Curiosities that may any wise relate to the Natural History of it. By a Letter from Figueira the Merchants here are informed, that several dead Bodies, with Parrots and Monkeys, had been thrown upon that Coast, which they suppose to have been cast away with the Advice-Boat, that is generally dispatched from the Bahia some time before the Fleet, and is now missing: But their Apprehensions for the Fleet itself are partly over, they having received an Account that it was not to sail till the latter end of November, and therefore cannot arrive so early as was expected. An Order has been lately published, that the Merchant-Ships bound for Brazil may henceforward go single, and when they shall see most convenient, without being obliged to wait the Departure of the Men of War; but that coming from thence they shall observe the usual Method of Sailing in a Fleet under the Convoy assigned them.

Stockholm, Feb. 19, O. S. Baron Törnflycht, one of the Provincial Governours of Upland, has with the Consent of the King and Senate agreed with Count Leyonstedt, who was President of the Auditors Chamber, but has not for two Years been able to officiate by reason of his Age and Infirmities, that he shall resign to him his Post for 3000 Rixdollars, which is two Years Salary; and accordingly he has taken Possession of the said Presidentship. There has fallen within these eight Days more Snow than has been seen in many Years, but 'tis apprehended it will rather do Hurt than Good to the Country. General Arnold, the King of Denmark's

Minister at this Court, is recalled, and will leave this Place in a few Days.

Hague, March 14, N. S. Lieutenant General Vander Beek being dead in Flanders, his Government of Sluys is given to Brigadier Welderen Governour of Menin; the Count de la Leck Lieutenant Governour of Ypres, is made Governour of Menin; and is succeeded at Ypres by Colonel Wassenaer. The States General have also promoted Major General Van Els to the Rank of Lieutenant General, in the Room of M. Vander Beek. The Directors of the East-India Company are here at present, making new Representations to the States in relation to the Ostend Company: The Directors of the West India Company are likewise come hither, on Occasion of the Fort of Arquin on the Coast of Africa, which the French having taken Possession of have offered to restore it to the Dutch West India Company, provided they can make out a rightful Claim to it. The Assembly of the States of Holland will sit To-Morrow, in order to which several of the Deputies are already arrived here.
